

METANANO-2017

International Conference on Metamaterials and Nanophotonics is a new series of annual Euro-Asian conferences initiated in 2016. It provides a major forum and great discussion opportunities in nanoscience and metamaterials research, covering a wide range of topics in these and related areas.

The conference will take place in beautiful and legendary Vladivostok, which is now included into National Geographic Top-10 ocean-front cities, offering glittering seascapes and a mild subtropical climate.

Vladivostok can be reached with direct flights from Moscow, Tokyo, Beijing, Hong Kong and other major hubs.

18-22 September 2017
Vladivostok, Russia

Extended Submission Deadline:
16 April 2017

Please submit an abstract (between 2 and 4 A4 pages) following the guidelines presented at the conference web-page.

The final versions of the abstracts will be published in AIP Conference Proceedings.

Grants can be offered for students and delegates from low-income countries.

Reduced fees are available for the participants from CIS countries.
